

QUALIFICATION STANDARDS OPERATING MANUAL

SECTION III. INDEX TO QUALIFICATION STANDARDS

Two indexes are included to identify the qualification requirements described in this Manual. The first index (III-A) is in numerical order by series. The second (III-B) is an alphabetical list by series or position title (whichever is applicable) to help users locate the appropriate series reference. The principal index (III-A) indicates whether the positions are covered by a group coverage or individual qualification standard, and if there are minimum educational requirements, licensure or certification requirements, OPM test requirements, and/or specific medical requirements. The purpose of the index is to help users of the Manual find material pertaining to particular occupations or positions. The index cannot be used to make qualifications determinations.

Many occupations or positions that are covered by group coverage qualification standards have individual occupational requirements. The notation "+ IOR" is included after the appropriate group coverage standard designation to identify positions with individual occupational requirements. For most occupational series there is only one entry in the index, indicating that all positions in the series are covered by the same qualification standard, and individual occupational requirements, if noted. However, some occupational series are covered by a separate individual standard or have different individual occupational requirements. For such positions that do not follow the same qualifications pattern as others in the same series or have unique requirements that warrant a specific reference, a separate entry is provided. Therefore, users of the index should scan all of the entries for a particular series to make sure that they identify the standard that applies to the position(s) to be filled.

The parenthetical notation, (RWC), in the third column indicates that the series requirements were reprinted without change, but appear on a page where changes have been made.

An "X" in the minimum educational requirements column indicates that applicants must normally possess specified course work. Information about the educational requirements for such positions is included in Section IV of this Manual. Users should also be familiar with the material in E.4. of the "General Policies and Instructions" (Section II) for the Manual related to minimum educational requirements.

An "X" in the licensure or certification requirements column indicates that applicants must possess a license or certificate for all or some positions, as shown in the individual occupational requirements in Section IV-B.

The test requirements column provides a brief reference to the grade levels, if any, where an OPM written or performance test is required. Section V of the Manual, "Test Requirements," contains additional information about OPM tests. Section V is the definitive source for such information.

An "X" in the medical requirements column indicates that there are specific medical requirements for the positions. Users should refer to Section IV-B and/or VI for further information.
